New Website Launched In Spanish Language

FaisalPRO has launched a new website — www.faisalpro.com/es — that's designed to better serve its Spanish-speaking customers and distributors.

The new website is built on fast platform and offers visitors a more complete and easy-to-use structure, as well as being equipped with a powerful search engine that can provide faster and more accurate results.

Flavio Naggi, FaisalPRO pro-audio division manager, states, "Our goal is to provide a comprehensive knowledge of our professional speakers through a hypertext structure that is easily accessible, in order to present the most viable solutions—and in a better way—to our customers and whoever needs to manufacture professional enclosures for installation, OEM and touring."

The Spanish version site is rich in technical specifications, diagrams and other information needed to better understand the performance capabilities and suitable applications for the company's line of professional loudspeaker drivers. The site also provides areas to request quotes, locate distributors, access the video section and download the full product catalog.

And, the new FaisalPRO Spanish website is optimized for mobile devices like smartphones and
